

WEB HOSTING SERVICES AND VALUE

We provide support from site to server (soup to nuts) for your unique digital presence.

We do this by combining high performing public and private cloud hosting products along with our digital architecture and support services from our development team.

Hosting Partner

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

- If there are issues related to server, database or application, we diagnose, assess and facilitate the resolution on your behalf
- Most hosting companies will not investigate code, database or applications (custom or third party) on the hosting product they provide
- We configure each site for optimized performance, care and contingencies to the degree that each client is most comfortable with
 - o Random access memory (RAM)
 - o Disk space available
 - o Database
 - o Granular Internet Information Services (IIS) configuration
 - o Permissions

We make sure that our clients receive an exceptional product, along with unbeatable support, so that their digital efforts execute flawlessly and, if issues do occur, someone is here to remedy them quickly and without delay.

HOW IS THIS DIFFERENT THAN OTHER HOSTING SOLUTIONS?

Typical Web hosts, such as GoDaddy, Network Solutions or 1and1 may provide a cut-rate hosting product, but they provide little oversight. For example, they will not engage in looking at the entire unique architecture of your Web application and hosting to resolve any issues, nor will they go into deep assessments prior to deployment. In the rare occasions when they do provide this kind of support, they require costly service contracts and rely on outside service partners and not their core team.

thunder::tech's development team provides exemplary service with all hosting engagements and projects from the very beginning.
